Car tag fees drop

Property owners paying sharp tax increases

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK

As lines grow longer, complaints seem louder in the Hancock County Courthouse where property owners are crowding in to pay ad valorem taxes which have increased sharply over the previous year.

One local resident said his taxes had nearly tripled from the amount he had to pay last year.

Another resident, Besse Russo, said her taxes had increased more than $30.

"My taxes, my mother's and everybody's I work with have gone up," she said.

Hancock County Tax Assessor Eddie Murtagh said the taxes on his property have increased nearly 400 percent.

Following reappraisal, almost everyone's taxes have increased, Murtagh added.

"Many homes had been previously under-assessed because they had been put on the tax rolls several years ago and never brought up to the current market value," he said.

Murtagh said some taxpayers had noted a decrease but there were only a few, and most of these had recently built their homes and had been previously over-assessed.

"There seems to be a shift in the burden of taxes to the property owners," Murtagh said.

"In this county, the assessment of all public utilities, including AT&T, Mississippi Power and the railroad, had increased over a million dollars but their taxes had decreased $140,000," he said.

Murtagh also said that automobile taxes had decreased and the decrease has to be made up somewhere.

"People want to have the sheriff's protection, fire protection and roads to travel on and these things have to be paid for," he said.

Murtagh said he believes that the legislature must take a look at the assessment of the public utilities and the limit on the amount of homestead exemption.

"The public utilities should pay more of their share," he said.

Changing either of these could provide some relief for property owners.

"This year is harder than any other year because there is so much change," Murtagh said.

He added that he did not anticipate further increases for 1986 unless the property owner makes additions to his property.

"We want to do everything in our power to encourage people to move into the area and buy property but we still want to protect the citizens," he said.

"I don't set the taxes, the legislature does that and I just have to follow the law," Murtagh said.

Murtagh explained that earlier estimates that a third of the taxpayers would note an increase, a third would remain the same and a third would decrease, did not hold true because of the substantial decrease in taxes paid by public utilities and the decrease in automobile taxes.

"There were no complaints when automobile taxes went down in October," he said.

One Hancock resident said that the price of his car tag had decreased by approximately $100.

PAYING TAXES—Hancock County clerk Terri Voss and Tax Assessor Eddie Murtagh assist tax payers Wednesday. Property owners have until Feb. 2 to pay taxes without being assessed a late charge. Office hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 8 a.m. to 12 noon Saturday. (Staff photo by Brenda Heathcock)

Large cache of building materials recovered

By ELLIS CUEVAS

An investigation continues into the recovery of building materials and lawn-mowers recovered at Firetower Road and Diamondhead residences by the Hancock County Sheriff's Department.

Delbert Seay, Hancock County Sheriff's investigator, Wednesday afternoon said, "Randy I. Koenen, 26, 108102 Kolosa St., Diamondhead was arrested Tuesday night and charged with receiving stolen property."

Two truck loads of materials were unloaded at the sheriff's office Wednesday.

The building materials and lawn mowers recovered were estimated at over $10,000 in value by Seay.

There were door frame sets, window sets, 2x4's, 1x6's, 2x6's, 2x8's, plywood siding, plywood, heaters, nails, sheetrock and other materials recovered.

Seay stated, "We have already positively identified ownership of some of the materials, and are checking the remainder against complaints received in our office about missing construction materials."

The lawn mowers were taken from a Pacyune dealer four or five months ago, Seay indicated.

Some of the building materials were reportedly missing as recently as two weeks, Seay said.

Koenen's bond was set at $10,000 and he is out on bond and scheduled to appear before a Hancock County Justice Court judge for a preliminary hearing, according to Seay.

Seay is being assisted by Hancock Deputy Sheriff Nathan Hoda in the investigation.

WAVELAND ARMED ROBBERY

In other police matters, Waveland police are investigating the early Tuesday morning armed robbery of the Junior Food Store, US-90 at Nicholson Avenue.

The suspect fits the description of a man who has robbed six other businesses in Waveland in recent months.

The man with a white money bag over his head with slits cut for his eyes was wearing an Army jacket and shirt, and approached the convenience store clerk with a small silver handgun and demanded money from the cash register, a spokesman for the Waveland police said.

Mrs. Barbara Ann Burdell, after handing over $311, was ordered into a storeroom in the back of the store, the spokesman added.

The robber reportedly left on foot in direction of the store's gas pumps, and no getaway vehicle was seen, the spokesman stated.

The suspect is described as in his 20s, black, about 5 feet-6 inches tall, with a slight build.

Bay council approves police review board

By DENA BISNETTE

The Bay St. Louis City Council has approved establishment of a police review board.

The board, proposed by Mayor Larry Bennett several months ago and approved Tuesday night, will serve the city council as an advisory group on police matters.

The chief responsibility of the board, the mayor said, will be to hear citizens' grievances concerning the Bay St. Louis Police Department.

The board will also make recommendations for city council actions on matters brought before its members, he said.

The mayor recommended five people for appointment to the board.

They included James Tucker, an attorney; Fr. Francis Theriault of St. Augustine Seminary; Albert Walker, a retired army officer who now operates a security service; former sheriff Sylvan Ladner; and retired Bay police chief Douglas Williams.

The board approved all five appointments but the mayor said he still has to contact those selected to POLICE—Page 10A

FOR SALE?—The Hancock County Board of Supervisors voted Monday to try to purchase a lot adjoining county property east of the Sea Coast Echo building, but

Jules LaGarde, who owns the lot and the house at right, says he plans to turn down the county's offer. (Staff photo by Dena Bisnette)

Hancock County supervisors disagree on jail land purchase

By DENA BISNETTE

On a 3-2 split vote, the Hancock County Board of Supervisors decided Monday to purchase additional land for the county's new jail.

The owner of the lot the county wants to purchase, however, said in a telephone conversation Wednesday that he has not received a written offer for the property as yet.

Jules LaGarde, who owns a lot of 140 by 75 feet located on Court Street east of the Sea Coast Echo building, also said he has informed the board through an attorney he plans to turn down offers for the property.

LaGarde said he contacted Supervisor Sam Perniclaro and substitute board attorney Joseph Gex Tuesday after reading a newspaper story which stated that the county had bought the land and had given LaGarde 45 days to move a house off the lot.

The board attorney, Walter Gex III, is on vacation and Joseph Gex is filling in until he returns.

What the board actually voted to do Monday was to buy the land if LaGarde would agree to sell. The supervisors did not take action on the actual purchase.

The county is interested in buying LaGarde's lot because it is adjacent to property which is already county-owned.

If purchased, the lot would add 75 feet of frontage to the 100 feet the county already owns and would provide additional parking for the new jail, which will cost more than $2 million.

The jail will be financed with a bond issue approved by voters during the November general election. The board had recently requested an appraisal of the property. Appraisal value was $28,500.

The agreement to look into purchasing LaGarde's property was made after board president A.A. "Dolph" Keller read the result of the appraisal.

Keller and Beat One Supervisor Bert Courge both voted against the possible purchase.

Keller voted against buying the land because he feels its elevation is low compared to the elevation of the property around it. He said the additional cost of placing fill material might make the land too expensive.

He also feels the county already owns enough property for the jail and does not need the additional lot. Courge agreed with Keller and asked that the land be surveyed before being considered for purchase.

Beat Three Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner, however, said he was voting for the possible purchase because he felt refusing to do so would delay the jail construction.

INVENTORYING RECOVERED MATERIALS—Hancock County Sheriff's investigator Delbert Seay and Deputy Nathan Hoda inventory two large stacks of building materials recovered from Diamondhead and Firetower Road residences Wednesday afternoon. One person was arrested and charged with receiving stolen property, Seay said. The cache still under investigation. The building materials were reportedly taken from several construction sites. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas)

Corps seeks final input to environmental study

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers Mobile District has issued a Final Generic Environmental Impact Statement (FGEIS) for exploration and production of hydrocarbon resources in coastal Alabama and Mississippi.

Copies have been forwarded to the Environmental Protection Agency, federal, state, and local governmental agencies, and to conservation groups and other known interests for review.

The purpose of the FGEIS is to provide the environmental foundation to assist the Corps of Engineers and other regulatory agencies in making timely and responsible decisions on permit applications.

Based upon resource and potential activity predictions for the next 30 years, the EIS analyzes the physical, biological and socioeconomic impacts of possible hydrocarbon exploration and development activities in coastal Alabama and Mississippi.

Four sub-regions are considered in the analysis.

These include the Mobile-Tensaw River Delta, the coastal estuaries of Mobile Bay and Mississippi Sound and the Alabama and Mississippi state waters of the Gulf of Mexico.

Recommendations from the EIS include a proposed general permit for portions of Mobile Bay, Mississippi Sound and Alabama and Mississippi Gulf coastal waters.

A draft environment impact statement (DEIS) for the action was released for public comment in May 1984.

A public hearing on the DEIS and proposed General Permit was held on June 14, 1984. Comments received on the draft document have been included in the FGEIS.

Comments and recommendations on the final statement should be furnished to the Mobile District, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers by January 14, 1985.

Interested individuals and groups can obtain a copy of the FGEIS by writing or telephoning the Mobile District, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, SAMPD-EE, P.O. Box 2288, Mobile, Ala. 36628-0001; (205) 694-3851.

CASHING IN ON THE BABY BOOM

Q: With higher construction costs and higher interest rates, I am curious as to who is purchasing the large, expensive homes that continue to be constructed around the country? I would think smaller, less expensive homes would be in high demand. C.C., Bruce

A: Dear C.C.:

Much of the boost to the housing market you are currently seeing is coming from the now middle-aged members of the "baby boom" generation seeking to move up to larger, more expensive homes.

The 25 to 34-year-olds who purchased the majority of lower-cost, so-called starter homes in the middle of the last decade are now 35 to 44.

This is the age group traditionally most active in the "move-up" market, people seeking homes that are more in line with what they desire, as opposed to what they can afford.

The Census Bureau estimates that between 1980 and 1990 the number of Americans in the 35 to 44-year age group will increase by 46 percent to almost 38 million.

The 45 to 54-year age group, the second most important tier of move-up home buyers, is expected to increase 13 percent between 1980 and 1990 to over 25 million and continue growing through the remainder of the century as more "baby boomers" advance into the older age bracket.

Many industry analysts are of the opinion that this move-up sector will remain a solid prospect for continued growth in the housing market even if interest rates remain at their current high levels, or even slightly higher.

Middle-aged home buyers generally have higher incomes and can pay more if the need arises.

They also tend to have a greater amount of equity built up to put toward a home purchase, an important factor which limits the impact of higher interest rates.

Currently, more people are moving up to a higher class of housing, generally homes with more room for a family or more amenities to go along with a higher standard of living.

Our Shopping Center - Waveland

Who would do such a thing!

The stealing of a fire hose while firefighters were in the process of fighting a residence and business fire is hard to believe.

The incident happened on Saturday as firefighters had placed a hose on the ground and jumped a fence to set up a floater pump in a pond.

When they returned to connect the hose to the pump, as they were in the process of fighting a dog kennel and residence fire around 6 p.m. on US-90 near Bayside Park, the hose was missing.

Firefighters are limited in the amount of water available in the rural areas where there are no commercial water systems and floater pumps are used quite frequently.

It is hard to realize who would stoop so low as to steal firefighters' equipment while they are trying to do their job.

Our fire departments in the rural areas are operated by volunteers.

Much of the funding for equipment comes from the volunteers and auxiliary members sponsoring dances, dinners, cake sales and all types of fund raising events.

The firefighters' equipment is owned by the people and a person or persons who take or destroy it need to be—as the old saying goes—"run out of town on a rail."

Quotables by CUEVAS

It is cookie time again and Girl Scouts will be out starting on Friday taking orders.

It is an annual event going back to 1933, so it is not new to Americans.

As many of you know, cookies still remain as the main fund-raiser for Girl Scouts.

When the young girls call on you, we hope you will help by placing an order.

Just in case you are missed, we are sure the Girl Scouts will call on you if you gave a call to Shawn R. Tusa of Waveland at 467-3999. She is the local chairman for 1985.

Commercial shrimpers should be aware of license changes made for Mississippi waters.

It is our understanding that commercial licenses will be extended from Dec. 31, 1984 to April 30, 1985.

The new rule, as we understand does not apply to recreational shrimp license purchase changes.

Licenses for commercial shrimpers will then expire on April 30 of each year, and new licenses must be purchased before April 30.

The rules and regulations on shrimping are subject to the Mississippi Legislature and can be changed.

The recreational shrimp license may be purchased at anytime during the year, but will have a catch and net size limit.

We urge all shrimpers to stay informed on license changes and the opening and closing of seasons, size limits, etc.

GIFT OF FREE ENTERPRISE

The Christmas season is a time of giving, a time of sharing for most Americans. What better time, then, to remember one of the greatest gifts we have as Americans—the gift of freedom.

And, what better time to recommit ourselves to the preservation of one of the greatest privileges offered to us, the privilege of participating in our free enterprise economic system.

It is the gift of the free enterprise system which permits us, at whatever level or station in life, to improve ourselves, to move upward culturally, socially, and economically, to live better than our fathers and our fathers' fathers lived.

While recommitting ourselves to the principles of our economic system, we need, at the same time, to recognize that the loss of that system is but a generation away. If we fail to instill in the next generation of Americans the virtues and values of our system, the system will not survive. That's what the American Enterprise Center of the Mississippi Economic Council is all about, working to assure that every Mississippi student and adult hears the story of our free enterprise system.

If you want to pass the gift of our free enterprise system on to your children and to the children of your community you may make a telephone call to the American Enterprise Center at the Mississippi Economic Council in Jackson to learn how you can help.

Montgomery blasts proposals to limit VA medical care

"Forget it, there is no chance. The Veterans' Affairs Committee will never accept it; the Congress will never accept it; and the American people will never accept it. It's misguided and it's wrong."

Congressman G.V. (Sonny) Montgomery (D-Miss.), chairman of the House Committee on Veterans' Affairs, responded to reports that the White House is actively considering deep cuts in medical care to veterans.

The White House has ordered the Veterans Administration to come up with figures on how much the government could save by severely curtailing the health care eligibility of non-service-connected veterans who use VA medical facilities.

"Just over six months ago, we commemorated the 40th anniversary of D-Day, honoring the thousands of brave individuals who stormed those beaches in France," said Montgomery. "Now, just as they are turning 65 and are eligible for the health care this nation promised, the Administration is suggesting that we tell those same individuals, 'Sorry, Pal. We appreciate what you did, but we're going to renege on our part of the commitment.'"

Montgomery said that the nation "owes a debt to all veterans who served honorably, regardless of whether or not they sustained injuries or disabilities as a result of that service."

Montgomery warns that if health care is limited to veterans disabled in service, "the VA hospital system will shut down."

"According to the VA, veterans receiving treatment for service-connected disabilities and conditions comprise approximately one-third of its patients. 'There simply would not be enough veterans using the system,' said Montgomery."

Montgomery claims that should such a proposal be implemented, the result would be that some veterans could no longer afford necessary medical treatment.

"In addition, Medicare costs would rise dramatically due to increased usage of private-sector health care facilities by veterans over age 65. So where are the savings?" asked Montgomery.

"Both the Committee and the House recognize that the VA must share the responsibility of trimming the deficit, and the record shows that we have accepted cuts, especially over the last four years," said Montgomery. "But we are going to protect our veterans' health care program!"

"If they're looking for ways to cut costs, this isn't the way," said Montgomery. "By denying health care to non-service-connected veterans, especially those who have depended on that health care being available at age 65, we would be breaking a long-standing promise and undermining the faith of all who served. We simply must not turn our backs on them."

Consumer Update From Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service

On investments and risk

The Department of Consumer Affairs in South Carolina gives these guidelines on investment risk:

- 1) Be cautious about investments offered by strangers through phone calls, unannounced visits, or unsolicited mailings.
- 2) Watch out when high pressure salespersons require immediate payment because "tomorrow will be too late."
- 3) Avoid investments with little or no written information and be sure to read carefully—and check with experts—any printed material given to you.

- 4) Be wary of investments based on rumors, tips, and "inside information."
- 5) Get competent advice from your regular stockbroker, banker, lawyer, accountant, or real estate agent. Check with a securities administrator, knowledgeable friend, or family member. See if your local department of consumer affairs has received complaints about the company which interests you.

- 6) Contact government agencies to see if a company or individual is licensed and has complied with the law.
- 7) When in doubt, don't.

Memo from George Dale, Mississippi Insurance Commissioner.

$2 Million Returned Service With a Smile

The laws of the State of Mississippi state clearly that the Insurance Commissioner shall diligently investigate any complaint that alleges an insurance company has violated this state's laws. (85-5-79) The Insurance Department is obligated to help you with your claims. That service, that help, that dedication is just a phone call away. If you have a problem with an insurance company that you cannot resolve, whether it's a problem with a claim, health insurance, trouble getting insurance, or any other insurance matter, call the Mis-issippi Insurance Department. The phone number is 359-3569. The Insurance Department can't bring a law suit to settle your claim, but it can assist you in obtaining a settlement by trying to bring the insurance company and you to an agreement. This system works. In 1976 the Insurance Department Claim Service recovered $900,000 for Mississippians in disputed claims. In 1983 that figure was up to $2,100,000.

If you need help with your insurance, it's just a phone call away.

Mississippi Council on Aging gives stroke warning signs

A stroke is sudden, but there are warning signals and preventative steps can be taken to reduce the risks, according to Dr. Edward M. Lowicki of Jackson, a member of the Mississippi Council on Aging.

"As its name implies, a stroke is swift," Lowicki said. "Its effects range from a temporary loss of memory, a slurring of speech, a slight uncertainty of movement and a transient numbness all the way to paralysis of one side of the body, loss of speech and death."

"A stroke is a death of part of the brain, of our nervous system. Nervous tissue is so highly specialized, so delicate that when it's gone it's gone. Nearby nervous tissue tries to take over and help, but it's never the same—ranging from crude to hopeless."

Lowicki said the warning signs of a stroke include temporary episodes of numbness, a tingling "pins and needles" sensation over parts of the body, blurred vision, double vision, dizziness and slurred speech.

"About one-third of those persons who have such symptoms may develop a full-blown stroke within two to five years," Lowicki warned. "The prevention of strokes depends to a large extent on the patient taking a larger role in his own care."

He said persons over 60 are most likely to suffer strokes, and men suffer twice as many strokes as women. Risk factors include high blood pressure, diabetes, elevated blood cholesterol, cigarette smoking and a family history of strokes.

"When more than one risk is present," Lowicki said, "the effect is not simply by addition, but compounded. For instance, the combination of high blood pressure and diabetes can be 10 times the risk of each one alone."

Acts which may provoke a stroke include prolonged turning of the neck, as in traffic, or bending the head forward while lifting something, according to Lowicki. "These physical motions tend to complete a partial narrowing into a complete stoppage of brain blood supply."

"Such a narrowing can readily be detected by listening with a stethoscope to the sound of blood rushing up the vessels of the neck. If there is substantial narrowing of the artery, a bruit (noise) can be heard like the sawing of wood or the rush of a stream over a bed of rocks. The sound is due to the turbulence of blood flow through the narrowing artery."

He said strokes involve a loss of oxygen and insufficient blood pressure. "It is as though thumbs were placed over the arteries of our neck, and we were strangled. The strangling comes from within in the form of hardening of the arteries and the layering of plaque (like hard cheese) on the inner wall of the arteries."

There are medical and x-ray tests that can be performed to locate the points of impending blockage, and in some cases surgery can be performed to remove the obstructing plaque.

Unfortunately, Lowicki said, the obstruction is often within the brain, beyond the safe reach of the surgeon's knife. "In these cases, some patients receive blood thinners that reduce the clotting ability of the brain," he said.

"Such medicines are not without risk. Unless they are well-controlled, it is possible to hemorrhage because the blood is too thin. Another risk is an accident resulting in heavy bleeding."

For further information, contact the Mississippi Council on Aging, 802 North State St., Jackson, MS 39201, or telephone the Governor's Service Line at 961-4042 from the Jackson area, or the toll free number, 1-800-222-7622, from other areas of the state.

Small Business Administration

By Dorothy A. Overall Public Information Officer Biloxi Branch Office

Q: I am interested in starting my own home business. But, I was told I need to file forms with numerous agencies. True?

A: A business operated from the home is subject to many laws and regulations that affect all businesses, large and small.

Consulting an attorney is a valuable first step for anyone considering a home-based business.

Most political jurisdictions now have codes, a zoning board and an appeals board which regulate home businesses.

Many localities have registration requirements for new businesses.

You will need to obtain a work certificate or license from the state. Your business name must be registered. Usually a sales tax number must be obtained.

A separate business telephone and bank account are required.

A business must keep accurate and complete financial records and is liable for all taxes.

Letters to the Editor

Happy Birthday, Elvis!

Dear Sea Coast Echo,

I guess most people know that the 3th of Jan. is Elvis' birthday.

He'd be 50, and I think it's really nice the way they've had his photo on almost all covers of national and local magazines, and think he was one of the most gifted and talented entertainers in the world, and he really made all his fans and most people happy.

Some people think if he were still alive he'd still be famous and also still be singing, and some think if he were alive he'd have changed the style of music of today.

There was a good special about him this past Sunday the 6th, and they had many of his friends and employees on there. And it told about his life and career, and I think people shouldn't forget the loved ones they've lost, so Happy Birthday, Elvis.

Sincerely,
Betty Caldwell

Tips to Taxpayers

I R S

TAXABLE SOCIAL SECURITY

Some retirees who receive social security benefits or tier 1 railroad retirement benefits may have to pay Federal Income Tax on part of their benefits, according to Sylvia Wren, director of the Internal Revenue Service in Mississippi.

Previously, social security and tier 1 benefits were exempt from Federal Income Tax; however, the Social Security Amendments of 1983 made a portion of these benefits taxable to keep them in line with other retirement benefits, which are generally taxable.

If you received social security or tier 1 benefits in 1984, a Form 1099 will be mailed to you by Jan. 31, 1985. This form is similar to those sent by banks of savings and loans showing interest earned during the year. The amount of net benefits you received in 1984 will appear in Box 5 of this form. You should keep this form for your records and not attach it to your tax return.

If you received social security benefits, you will receive a Form SSA-1099, Social Security Benefit Statement. Enclosed with the Form SSA-1099 is IRS Notice 703, which includes a worksheet to help you determine whether part of your benefits may be taxable.

If you received tier 1 benefits, you will receive a Form RRB-1099, Statement for Recipients of Payments by the Railroad Retirement Board. Enclosed with your form RRB-1099 is a worksheet similar to the worksheet included in Notice 703.

Generally, your benefits will not be taxable unless your income, plus one-half of your net social security benefits, plus any tax-exempt interest you received in 1984 is more than:

—$25,000 if you are single;
—$25,000 if you are married, will not file a joint return and you did not live with your spouse at any time during 1984;

—$32,000 if you are married and filing a joint return; or —Zero if you are married, will not file a joint return and you lived with your spouse at any time during 1984.

If your combined income does not exceed the amounts shown above, your social security or tier 1 railroad benefits will not be taxable. If you and your spouse file a joint return, be sure to include income and benefits paid to both of you when figuring if any of your benefits are taxable.

If your combined income does not exceed the amounts shown above, your social security or tier 1 railroad benefits will not be taxable. If you and your spouse file a joint return, be sure to include income and benefits paid to both of you when figuring if any of your benefits are taxable.

If any of your benefits are taxable, you must use the Form 1040 to report the taxable amount. The Form 1040 instruction package has a worksheet you can use to determine the taxable amount of your benefits.

For additional information on this subject, you can obtain a free copy of IRS Publication 915, "Tax Information on Social Security Benefits (and Tier 1 Railroad Retirement Benefits)," by calling 1-800-241-3860 or writing to Internal Revenue Service, Southeast Distribution Center, Callers 848, Atlanta, GA 30370.

DIESEL FUEL TAX

The rate of tax on diesel fuel was increased from 9 cents per gallon to 15 cents per gallon, effective August 1, 1984. Of the 15-cent-per-gallon tax, one cent per gallon is to be designated for the Mass Transit Account.

The excise tax on diesel fuel is reported on Form 720, which is filed quarterly. Information on filing requirements is found in the free IRS

Publication 810, "Excise Taxes."

This publication, as well as Form 720, is available by calling 1-800-241-3860 or write to: Internal Revenue Service, Southeast Distribution Center, Callers 848, Atlanta, GA 30370.

SHELTER REGISTRATION

The Internal Revenue Service will be keeping a closer eye on tax shelters due to provisions of the Tax Reform Act of 1984.

Promoters of tax shelters with at least five investors are required to register them with the IRS if the deductions are expected to be at least twice the dollar amount invested, and they are either registered securities or the amount offered for sale is at least $250,000.

Also, organizers or sellers of potentially abusive tax shelters must keep a list identifying each person who was sold an interest in the tax shelter and containing certain other required information. The list must be kept seven years and made available to the IRS on request.

The penalty for failing to register the shelter ranges from $500 to $10,000, depending upon the total amount invested, the IRS said. Failing to provide the registration number to an investor brings a $100 fine for each such failure.

The registration number must be given to investors who are to put it on their tax returns. The registration number does not imply approval from the IRS.

Personally, We Think You Deserve A Different Kind of Hospital.

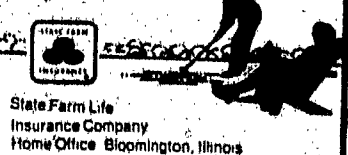

Most people think that the worst thing about going to the hospital is... going to the hospital. We think you deserve something better. Our medical staff is top-flight. Exceptionally skilled. Thoroughly experienced. Our technology is state-of-the-art—from digital angiograms to computer-aided laboratory analysis. We offer the advantage of a convenient location, and the assurance of management by American Medical International. But all that doesn't mean we equate professional care with impersonal treatment. Quite the contrary. While we're big enough to provide a broad range of superb medical services, we're not so big that human concerns get lost in the shuffle. In fact, as healers, they're our first concerns. So, we give you the kind of attention that makes going to the hospital a much more comfortable experience. At Garden Park, health care is every bit as personal as it is professional. That's what makes us a different kind of hospital. The Difference Is Entirely Personal.

Notes

By Lee Taylor

Spring gardening season will, be here before you know it. Now would be a great time to have your soil tested. A soil test is similar to getting a prescription from your doctor. A soil test only recommends those nutrients to produce optimum yields from your garden.

The only way to know if your soil needs lime is to soil test. Lime decreases the acidity of your soil so that more nutrients are available to your plants. It also decreases the effects of toxic reaction of crop plants to the increased availability of manganese and aluminum in acid soils.

Some vegetables that are slightly tolerant to acid soils are lettuce, muskmelon, okra and onions. Beans, peas, corn, tomatoes and collards are a few vegetables moderately tolerant to acid soils. Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, and watermelons are very tolerant to acid soils.

Lime must be applied 3-6 months in advance to raise your soil's pH.

The amount of fertilizer you will apply depends on the natural fertility of the soil, amount of organic matter, type of fertilizer and the crop to be grown. Again, get a soil test to determine your fertilizer needs.

Leafy greens, such as mustard, turnip, collard, cabbage and spinach are heavy users of nitrogen. Broccoli and corn also require more nitrogen.

Peanuts, southern peas and beans get nitrogen from the air and do not require heavy nitrogen fertilizer.

Nearly all horticulture crops need side dressing at one time or another. The rate to use is ¼ pound of ammonia nitrate per 100 ft. of row, 5 teaspoons per 10 feet of row and 1 teaspoon per hill or plant.

Why not start your garden off right this year? All you have to do is get a random sample of the soil in your garden. This sample should equal one pint. Bring it to the County Extension Office and we'll send it in for you with the $3 charge. In one week to 10 days you will receive a "get well" prescription for your soil.

Zoning board approves change for condo

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Waveland Planning and Zoning Board Monday approved a request for zoning change for a condominium complex.

Imperial Beach Corporation, represented by Derek Breerwood and Frank McCavett, requested a zoning change from R-1, which allows only single family residences, to R-3, which allows the construction of apartment buildings.

Breerwood, McCavett and a third owner, C.G. Ferrioux Jr., want to build a 30-unit condominium complex on their property between LaFitte Street and Grosvenor subdivision.

The property runs from Beach Boulevard back to the railroad tracks near Central Avenue, but Breerwood said the condominium units will be located at least 400 feet from Beach Boulevard.

In addition, the lots on both sides and the back of the property will not be used initially and will remain under an R-1 zoning.

The board approved recommending the change to the board of aldermen for approval and will set a public hearing to see if there are any objections from the owners of adjacent property.

In addition, the board discussed a variance requested by Charles Simmons but postponed action until records can be checked concerning a previous request on the same property.

The board also met with Ray McIntyre, a contractor representing two property owners with lots on De La Salle Street off Waveland Avenue and one owner of a lot on Morris Street.

The board approved McIntyre's request for side yard variances on all three lots. The variances are needed to permit the construction of residences.

In addition, McIntyre and the board discussed his plans to build a subdivision on property he owns between Tabor and Morris Streets. The board approved his request for a zoning change from R-1 to a modified R-2 zoning.

The R-2 zoning normally allows the construction of duplexes, but McIntyre requested a modification to allow only single family dwellings.

He said he wants the R-2 zoning because the side yard requirement is smaller than the side yard requirement of the R-1 zoning. The R-2 zoning will allow him to construct homes in the subdivision without obtaining side yard variances for individual lots.

The board will present its recommendations for zoning changes to the board of aldermen for final approval later this month.

Minesweepers to be built at Bell's plant

Bell Aerospace Textron, Division of Textron Inc., has been awarded a $27.3 million contract for detail design and construction of the first Minesweeper Hunter (MSH) for the U.S. Navy.

The MSH will be a new class of coastal minesweeper designed to ensure that access to U.S. ports and coastal waterways is maintained in the event of a mine attack.

The contract, announced Nov. 26, also provides the Navy with two additional options to acquire eight more MSHs at a cost of $128.6 million. The additional ships would be awarded in groups of four in 1985 and 1986.

The MSH will use a surface effect ship (SES) design in which the vessel will ride on a cushion of air.

This design represents a new concept for minesweepers, which in the past have used conventional displacement hulls.

Final design of the MSH will be conducted at the New Orleans Operations of Bell Aerospace and the lead ship will be constructed at its Bell Halter Inc. shipyard in eastern New Orleans. The MSH lead ship is scheduled for delivery in 1987.

This competitive contract was won through a process involving 17 companies and three years of intensive international competition.

The MSH program is the second major Navy project won by Bell New Orleans in recent years.

The company is currently building high-speed amphibious air cushion landing craft, known as LCACs (Landing Craft, Air Cushion), for U.S. Navy/Marine Corps missions.

The first LCAC rolled off the Bell Halter assembly line in May of this year, and has successfully completed operational and acceptance trials in Panama City, Fla.

The Bell NSH design uses an air cushion to reduce the contact of the hull with the water surface, thus making the ship less susceptible to underwater shock from mine explosions.

The air cushion also reduces the underwater acoustic, magnetic, and pressure signatures of the ship, making it less likely that today's sophisticated mines will be triggered before they can be detected and neutralized by systems carried aboard the MSH. This concept offers a dramatic improvement, reducing the risk and cost of minesweeping.

To prove the effectiveness of the SES design in resisting underwater shock, Bell conducted a series of underwater explosion tests on a Bell-designed 110-foot commercial SES.

During the tests, explosive charges equivalent to 1,800 pounds of TNT were detonated at various distances to the ship.

After the most severe test on cushion, the SES immediately departed the area with all systems operating.

The tests were conducted in February and March 1984 in the Gulf of Mexico near Bell's facility in Panama City, Fla., and provided the first data proving the superior shock resistance of the SES design.

Picayune Groundbreaking
A groundbreaking ceremony was held recently for the new Bell Avon, Inc. manufacturing facility being built in Picayune.

Bell Avon is a new joint venture company owned by Avon Industrial Polymers Ltd., a British rubber company, and Bell Aerospace Textron, the U.S. leader in design and

(ACV) and surface effect ships (SES).

Avon of Chippenham, England, is the world leader in the manufacture of flexible skirts for air cushion craft and has already supplied this component for Bell.

After this first capability for the flexible skirts is established, Bell Avon will progressively introduce a range of related products similar to those now fabricated at the Avon plant in England.

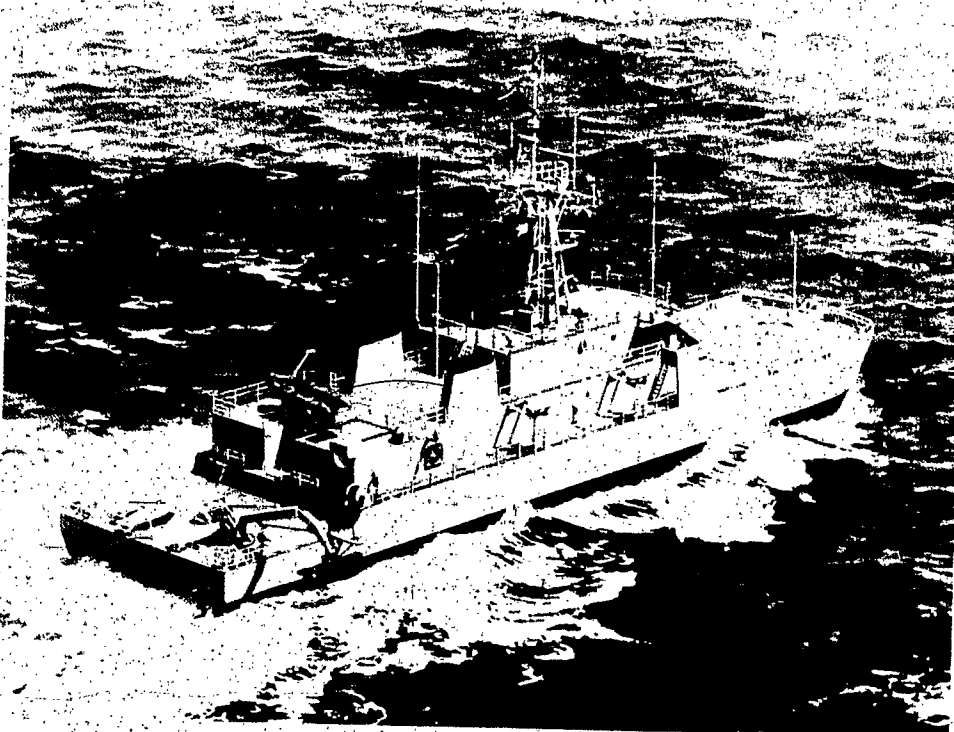

Future products will include dry diving suits for military, sports, and commercial divers, and the rapidly expanding Flexitank range for storing and transporting liquids, and powders.

Located on a six-acre site, the Picayune facility will have 20,000 square feet with the ability to expand to 120,000 square feet.

Bell Aerospace operates plants in New Orleans and Buffalo, N.Y.

Bell New Orleans Operations is currently constructing high-speed amphibious landing craft or LCACs and was recently awarded another major U.S. Navy contract to design and build the first Minesweeper Hunter (MSH).

Bell high-speed SESs are currently used by the U.S. Coast Guard for patrol and drug interdiction missions in the Gulf of Mexico and by the oil industry to service offshore rigs and platforms.

School board approves classroom construction

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County School Board has approved the construction of six classrooms at Gulfview Elementary School.

The construction, approved Monday, is expected to cost about $330,000 and will be paid for through a combination of local and state funding, according to board president Billie Lyons.

The classrooms are expected to help the district deal with an overcrowding problem at the school, where the daily attendance presently averages about 540 students distributed in groups of about 30 students per classroom, according to Superintendent Terrell Randolph.

Randolph, in a report to the board on average daily attendance and projected growth at the district's schools, said he expects average daily attendance at Gulfview to grow to 563 by September 1985 and 677 by September 1986.

Other schools in the district face similar problems, with the 194 student population at Charles B. Murphy Elementary in Pearlinton expected to grow to 237 by September 1986.

Hancock North Central presently has 527 students attending the elementary school, according to daily attendance averages, and is expected to have 699 elementary school students by September 1986.

The junior high and high school students at Hancock North Central now total 890 and projections indicated that student population may be as high as 982 within two years.

In other business, the board chose officers for 1985 and re-elected Lyons as president and Monvel Cuevas as vice president. The board also decided that Joseph Gex will continue serving as board attorney.

The board also approved the employment of Marlene Ladner as secretary at Hancock North Central, Glynda Chaisson as teacher assistant at Gulfview, Cynthia Ladner as Chapter I aide at Hancock North Central and Geraldine Foxworth as Chapter I aide at Charles B. Murphy Elementary.

In addition, travel requests for personnel attending two January meetings were approved and the board agreed to advertise for bids for oil, gas and mineral leases on 16th section land.

MISSION OF CHRIST Part 2

Paul, in reference to Christ, said, "...who is the blessed and only potentate, the King of kings and Lord of Lords." (I Timothy 6:15) Jesus declared, "All power is given unto me in heaven and in the earth," (Matthew 28:18).

He gave the apostles authority to bind and loose what he had bound and loosed in heaven. To the apostles he said, "Verily, I say unto you, whatsoever ye shall bind on earth shall be bound in heaven." (Matthew 16:19).

John records, "...he breathed on them, and saith unto them, receive ye the Holy Ghost; whosoever sins ye remit, they are remitted unto them; and whosoever sins ye retain they are retained." (John 20:22-23).

God is the only one who can forgive. The apostles were to act as the Holy Spirit directed.

The apostles and all Christians until the end of the world were and are to preach the saving gospel to the world. Jesus commanded, "Go ye, therefore and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and the Holy Ghost; teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you; and lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world, Amen." (Matthew 28:19-20).

Without the power in the shed blood of Jesus, the preaching and baptism would be of non-effect. Through the blood of Christ people are saved.

Paul speaks of the central facts of the gospel. "Moreover, brethren, I declare unto you, which also ye have received, and wherein ye stand; by which also are saved, if ye keep in memory what I preached unto you, unless ye believed in vain, for I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures." I Corinthians 15:1-4

Jesus himself said as he instituted his supper, "For this is my blood of the New Testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins." Matthew 26:28

The death, burial, and resurrection of Jesus are the facts of the gospel which must be believed.

Jesus said, "I said therefore unto you, that ye shall die in your sins; for if ye believe not that I am he, ye shall die in your sins." John 8:24

Our faith must include faith in the power of the blood of Jesus to cleanse our sins. Paul said, "In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace," Ephesians 1:7

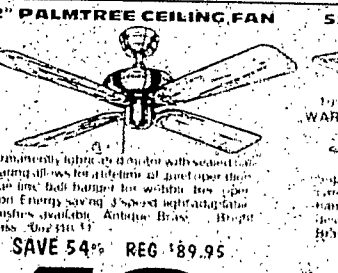

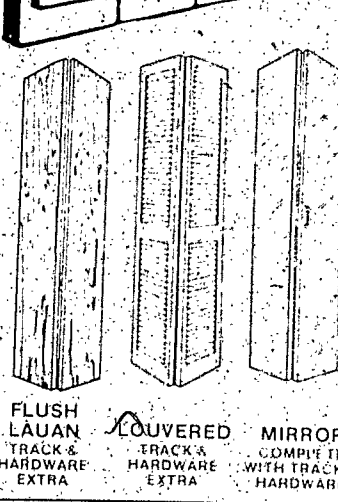

Our faith must be strong enough to change the direction of our lives. The Lord gives us ample time to repent. Peter stated, "The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness; but is long-suffering toward us, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance."

Faith must be expressed in confession of our faith in Christ. Paul taught, "That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved." Romans 10:9

Baptism is the final act which puts one in Christ.

Paul informs us, "Know ye not, that so many of us as were baptized into Christ were baptized into his death? Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death; that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life. For if we have been planted together in the likeness of his death, we shall be also in the likeness of his resurrection." Romans 6:3-5

The Mission of Christ is not complete until we are faithful unto death. Revelation 2:10

Supervisors set meeting to review animal control

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has scheduled a special meeting for 1:30 p.m. Monday to answer a complaint concerning animal control agencies.

The meeting was set after Eugene Aaronstein of BaySide Park addressed the board on Monday and charged that animal control agencies are not operating properly.

Aaronstein's complaints concerned the Hancock County Animal Control Commission, dog wardens in Bay St. Louis and Waveland, and the Humane Society.

Aaronstein said he holds membership in the Humane Society and alleged that the society has failed to inform him and other members of meetings.

Most of his complaints, however, concerned how the animal control agencies are using their funds. He said he had requested information on commission spending but had been unable to obtain the reports.

Beat Four Supervisor Sam Perniciaro, a member of the animal control commission, said the supervisors have never before received complaints about how the animal control agencies are operated.

Perniciaro said the financial records for the society, the commission and the two city dog wardens would be discussed at the meeting, but said the county will not hire an auditor to check on the animal control agencies as Aaronstein suggested.

"We want to know why this man said he had trouble obtaining the reports. I'm a member of the commission and I've never had a problem getting financial information," Perniciaro said.

The supervisor added that Aaronstein's complaint indicated that Aaronstein may have been attempting to get commission records from the Humane Society.

The society is not part of the commission, although it provides the commission with funds for veterinary services and a spay-neuter program, according to society president Cel Dumesire.

The supervisors also heard Monday from Tax Assessor and Collector Edward Murtagh, who reported that the county's reappraisal has been approved by the State Tax Commission.

Murtagh congratulated the board on the accomplishment, explaining that Hancock County is one of the first counties to have its reappraisal accepted.

In addition, Murtagh informed board members that paperwork on homestead exemptions for county residents arrived late from the Mississippi Tax Commission in Jackson, delaying processing by his office for about one week.

About 700 homestead exemptions are being prepared for mailing and are expected to be sent out late next week.

Also addressing the board was Delmer Wilcox of the Tri-State Rail Transit Commission.

Wilcox publicly thanked the board for their support for the commission's attempts to obtain state funding for the continuation of the Gulf Coast Limited, an Amtrak passenger train that discontinued service Jan. 6.

He also told the supervisors that efforts to start a commuter train with stops in Gulf Coast cities are continuing and requested their continued support for that project.

In other business Monday, the supervisors approved the use of an interfund loan to purchase the McDonald Furniture Building on Main Street; and approved a resolution requesting a local and private bill changing the interest rate from 12.5 to 14 percent on bonds for the construction of additional hospital facilities.

In addition, they took annual bids for various services under advisement; set speed limits at 30 m.p.h. for the main roads entering Jourdan River Shores and 20 for roads inside the subdivision; and agreed to advertise for bids on a bridge replacement project in Beat One.

The board set a meeting to take public protests on the jail bond issue for Thursday and set its next regular meeting for 9 a.m. Monday.

verify that they will accept the appointments. After that has been done, a date will be set for an organizational meeting.

In other business, the board heard a proposal from Clyde Cummings, a representative of B. and L. Telephone Systems of Jackson, on the replacement of the phone system in city hall, the police department and the fire department.

The city presently rents its telephone equipment and the system being used is not capable of transferring calls from one office to another.

The proposal was taken under advisement because the city would be required to advertise for bids if the council decided to buy a new telephone system.

Also on Tuesday, the council opened bids on the installation of a culvert under the railroad tracks behind Spanish Acres subdivision.

Three bids were received for the installation of concrete pipe as well as an alternate installation of steel pipe.

The culvert is expected to alleviate a drainage problem that causes pools of standing water in about half of the subdivision.

The bids were taken under advisement until Seaboard Systems, the railroad using the tracks, can be consulted on the type of pipe to be used.

The council also discussed a project involving the widening and repaving of Central Avenue from Washington Street to the Waveland city limits but took no action on the matter; and authorized City Clerk Edward Favre to advertise for annual bids for publication of legal notices and city depositories.

The council meets again at 7:30 p.m. on Jan. 22.

Fire destroys kennels, apartments

BY BRENDA HEATHCOCK

Hancock County Arson Investigator Ed Friloux said the fire which destroyed Goodwins Kennels and the adjoining apartments Saturday night was started apparently by accident.

"The source of the fire was a skillet left on a stove in the middle apartment," Friloux said.

He added that although the fire appears to be started by accident, the incident is still under investigation by the arson squad.

Joseph Marcantel is the owner of the kennels, located on US-90 Waveland.

There were no injuries reported from the fire.

Bayside Fire Department Chief Dave Ellspermann reported Wednesday that most of the dogs released from the kennels during the fire had been caught or had returned to the kennels.

He also said that during an attempt to draw water from a pond near the kennels, a one and a half inch water hose was stolen.

According to Ellspermann, five departments and approximately 30 firefighters responded to the alarm. The departments include Bayside, East Hancock and Clermont Harbor Volunteer departments and Waveland and Bay St. Louis departments.

Ellspermann added that members of the Hancock Sheriff's Department and Waveland Police Department also responded.

Friloux said the arson squad is also currently investigating a fire which destroyed an abandoned church on Lakeshore Road early Sunday morning.

He added that the fire at the church was definitely arson.

Bayside and Clermont Harbor Volunteer fire departments responded to the alarm.

MUSCLE SPASMS
Violent involuntary contractions of a muscle or group of muscles initiate the painful condition of muscle spasms. They can occur in almost any muscle of the body. Most frequently they occur in the back, neck, stomach or bladder. Even the involuntary twitching of the eye lids or facial muscles is associated with muscle spasm. The jingle or rattle of their cause has been solved. As it has been shown that the majority of all muscle spasms are caused by NERVE ROOT PRESSURE, even though there can be other aggravating factors. Injections, muscle relaxants, and traction are measures which given temporary relief, but contribute little to the correction of the basic cause of NERVE PRESSURE. A chiropractic adjustment, if necessary, will permit the correction of the majority of these conditions. Prompt attention in the matter usually brings prompt results.

(Your Independent Insurance Agency Working for You)

There are two basic steps that you can take to determine if you have adequate insurance on your valuables:

- 1) Get an appraisal and know today's replacement value for your protection; have valuables professionally appraised.
- 2) Know the limits on theft losses in your homeowners policy. Your homeowners policy covers all personal possessions. When there is a loss by theft, however, the amount of reimbursement on certain items is limited.

An inventory is vitally important after a loss. If there is a disaster tomorrow, would you remember each item lost? We have inventory booklets to help make the job easier. Come by our office for your free booklet—no obligation.

Arban ousted after 10 years

Wildcats hire new head coach

Mississippi Gulf Coast Junior College assistant Mike Nelson was the first choice of a Pearl River Junior College search committee and has accepted the position as head football coach in Poplarville last Friday afternoon, signing a contract after several days of negotiations.

"I am looking forward to coming to Pearl River Junior College," Nelson said. "I realize I am leaving a successful environment at Gulf Coast, but I expect Pearl River to be equally successful. I have looked over the facilities at Pearl River and they are more than adequate to have a successful football program."

Nelson replaces J.C. Arban whose contract was discontinued by the college after serving as the Wildcat mentor since 1975. Arban's lifetime record at Pearl River was 61-37-4. The Wildcats, under Arban, were 5-4-1 in 1984.

Nelson, 41, became a member of the Gulf Coast grid staff after a six-year tenure as head coach at Stone County High where he compiled a 50-12-1 record. In 1971 and 1974 he was named Coach of the Year.

Nelson was an All-Big Eight player for Pascagoula High before going on to play at Ole Miss after the 1961 season. At Ole Miss, Nelson played in two bowl games, while helping the Rebels to two SEC championships as a linebacker and guard.

Nelson joined the Pearl River faculty Monday as head football coach and will begin recruiting and evaluating returning players immediately.

"Being a member of Gulf Coast for seven years, I am familiar with the Pearl River recruiting district and will begin recruiting immediately," said Nelson. "I will set up an environment where athletes will be a part of a winning tradition. I am going to set up the no-huddle offense used by Gulf Coast, but the formations will probably not be the same."

National sports seminar set for USM-Long Beach

The North American Society for Psychology of Sport and Physical Activity will hold its 1985 conference May 25-28 on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

The conference is co-hosted by the School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation at the University of Southern Mississippi and the School of Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance at Louisiana State University.

The four-day event will begin at 1 p.m. May 25 at the USM Gulf Park campus conference center in Long Beach.

Coordinators of the conference include Dr. Walter Cooper, dean of the USM School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation; Dr. Billy Slay, chairman of the USM Department of Athletic Administration; and Richard Magill of LSU. LSU's Jerry R. Thomas chairs the coordinating committee.

Abstracts for the conference may be submitted until Feb. 15. Notifications of acceptance will be released in April.

For more information on the conference or to pre-register, contact the USM Gulf Park Conference Center by calling (601) 865-4508.

PRJC cagers dunked by Florida, 77-75

Florida Gulf Coast Junior College used a shot at the buzzer to hand Pearl River College a disappointing 77-75 loss in Poplarville Saturday night.

The Wildcats, down by as many as eight points in the second half, rallied to tie the game with a minute-and-a-half to play. After a turnover, PRJC held the ball for a final shot, which was taken by Donald Dunston with six seconds to go.

However, Dunston was fouled while shooting and subsequently missed both free throws. Florida Gulf Coast called time to set up its shot, then worked the ball around to Derrick Johnson, who nailed the game-winner from 25 feet out.

PRJC's Carl Firven led all scorers, pouring in 33 points; Steve Gouner added 15 and Dunston and Scott Vaughn both had 10.

For Florida Gulf Coast, Troy Munday and William Wilcox led the way with 19 points, Ben Pittman had 14 points, Johnson had 12 and Marty Russ had 11.

FGC led at halftime 43-39 enroute to their 11th win of the season.

Shrimp trawl movie available this month

A new movie illustrating the latest in shrimp trawling systems and techniques will soon be available.

The National Marine Fisheries Service's Southeast Center and the University of Georgia's Marine Extension Service have collaborated on the production of the film.

The film will replace a movie entitled "Gulf of Mexico Shrimp Trawls."

Developments in trawl and door designs and shrimp trawling techniques that have occurred since 1958 will be shown and their performance characteristics compared.

The movie will be premiered in January at the Work Boat Show in New Orleans, La.

Copies of the movie, to be produced in both English and Spanish for 16-mm movie projectors and video recorders, will be available from the Southeast Fisheries Center, Lincoln Center Suite 88, 5401 W. Kennedy Blvd., Tampa, Fla. 33609.

turkey instincts and habits; and how to increase success as a turkey hunter.

The seminar will include displays and exhibits as well as door prizes and the chance to be instructed with personal turkey callers.

Enrollment will be limited to 100 participants. A registration fee of $17.50 will be charged and additional family members may attend for $15 each. Registration fees will be $22.50 at the door.

The Sea Coast Echo

YOUTH SECTION

Students of the 80s pretend bright society for the 90s

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article entitled, 'The Butcher, The Brewer, The Baker'—And The Parasite' by William R. Allen, professor of economics at UCLA and president of the International Institute for Economic Research, is supplied to The Sea Coast Echo, by Public Research Syndicated, Inc. of Claremont, Calif.

My, these are hard days of great concern on the college campus—One understands the frustrated discontent of would-be revolutionary students over the tepid quality of today's protests. "I'm tired of going to demonstrations where the major goal is to get a large number of people and then not do anything with them," whimpers one young scholar who longs for action and martyrdom. "We go out there knowing no one will get arrested, knowing we'll all just return home safe and sound.

It might as well not have happened."

Senior scholars, too, are concerned about the values and vitality of the braves of the tribe. A professor of education detects fascistic subversion in the findings of a poll that over two-thirds of today's freshmen want to be "very well off financially" and that fewer than half put great weight on developing a "meaningful philosophy of life."

We are told that instead of idealistic students shaping society—as in the 1960s—materialistic society is now shaping students. One bit of evidence: sociology enrollments are down, and economics enrollments are up! Alas, the end of the children's crusade!

A survey by professors of psychology and history of high school valedictory addresses reveals limited criticism of society, little social consciousness, and few solutions to world problems.

At the same time, these leading high school graduates are friendly, praise achievement, call for individual responsibility, and seek best use of personal resources. They even say that one reason for their going to college is "to learn more about things."

I have learned not to expect profundity in all matters from 18-year-olds. It is asking a bit much for people of such years, training, and experience to provide wise counsel and erudite guidance on the great social, economic, and geopolitical issues of the day.

But they are more sensible than some professors of education, psychology, and history. It is quite enough that students be civil, ambitious, accountable, and reliant on their own resources.

Nor need such people be bloodless wimps. Although the 1960s babies of Berkeley and kids of Columbia would never comprehend, gentility and generosity are consistent with interest in one's own productivity and wellbeing.

Cultivated sophistication is compatible with adding value in the marketplace. One can study mathematics and chemistry and law and economics, and still be concerned about the human condition. Ignorance and incompetence are not prerequisites of sensitivity.

The hope of tomorrow does not rest with insufferable infants who will do nothing but invade the administration building and pronounce "non-negotiable" demands.

And it certainly does not rest with still more infantile faculty and administrators. If we are to be strong and to use our strength well, it will be largely because of those who quietly live laborious lives in the library and the laboratory—and then use their accumulated knowledge and acquired skills to be valuable to the rewarding community.

For cloistered collectivists who dream of expunging self-interest, there is something inherently ignoble in the pursuit of financial wellbeing.

Legions of students have been weaned on the belief that self-interest is an immoral motive that can never produce splendid results—unless self-interest is pursued through the agency of government.

The young barbarians entering the university gates have been implored to shun the wicked ways of private enterprise.

But there is no necessary conflict between self-interest and community interest.

With appropriate social institutions, self-interest can be made to produce results that benefit the community.

Indeed, other motives surely will fall far short. Adam Smith, professor of moral philosophy and father of modern economics, stated his axiom in 1776: "It is not from the benevolence of the butcher, the brewer, or the baker, that we expect our dinner, but from their regard for their own interest."

We survive best in a hard world of competition by efficient coordination of individual efforts.

And coordination will be best accomplished, not by hooligans of government wielding the whip, but by mutual gains of market interchange.

We bribe one another to do what each wants the other to do. I may be as self-centered as you, but I will make you better off if you make me better off.

The way to self-fulfillment and knowledgeable zest for life is rarely solitary.

For nearly all of us, it requires much interaction, and this interdependence, with others.

But such melding and meshing is more opportunity than cost. The incentives of personal gain and the tactics of individual betterment can make us a community.

There is no other way.

USM to assist NASA with research project

University of Southern Mississippi researchers, with the aid of a $66,265 grant, are helping NASA scientists and private industry expand their computer technology capabilities.

Dr. David Huffman, dean of the USM College of Science and Technology, said the grant award from the Indianapolis Center for Advanced Research Inc. would support technology-transfer research under a NASA contract.

NASA's concern involves the economic incentive associated with using existing technology as opposed to original research and development.

NASA, Huffman explained, in an effort to disseminate the technology it developed, created the Technology Utilization Office in Washington. This office, in turn, set up a series of industrial application centers and state technology assistance centers across the United States.

The function of these centers, he said, is to transfer technology—to apply technology for purposes other than those for which it was originally intended or created.

"USM's function is to evaluate methods and techniques, providing software systems used in the process of technology transfer," Huffman said. "The grant supplies software systems and research on technology transfer to the network of centers."

Others involved with the project at USM are Dr. Bill Lee, associate professor of computer science, who handles software oriented research, and three computer science graduate students: Dennis Vital of Hattiesburg, Ted Holt of Tupelo and Steve Howard of Poplarville.

Dr. Huffman handles research aspects dealing with technology transfer processes.

National symposium on soft crab to be sponsored by lab

Gulf Coast Research Laboratory's J.L. Scott Marine Education Center in Biloxi will be the site of a national symposium on the soft-shelled blue crab fishery on Feb. 12-13.

This rapidly expanding industry is a high priority for research in the aquaculture field. A lucrative market exists for softshells, which bring in almost $3 a pound dockside, compared to 25 cents a pound for hardshell blue crabs.

Harriet Perry of GCRL and Dr. Bill Hosking of the Alabama Sea Grant Advisory Service are coordinating the conference which is aimed at researchers, advisory personnel and commercial seafood firms currently producing soft-shelled crabs.

"An exciting part of the symposium is that field agents and people in applied science will be able to meet with top people in basic research," noted Ms. Perry, who is involved in a study exploring the use of hormones to speed up the blue crab's molt cycle.

She explained that scientists will have the opportunity to discuss recent developments in soft-shelled crab research and future projects.

Topics to be included in the two-day event including molting physiology, viral diseases, bacterial mortality, hormone-induced molting, regulations and management implications, water quality in shedding systems, design of marine aquaculture systems, economics of shedding in the Gulf of Mexico, domestic and foreign marketing, nutritional composition and fresh shelf life.

The conference is being sponsored by the Southeast Marine Advisory Service Network and Sea Grant Mid-Atlantic Advisory Service Network. The Mississippi-Alabama and Louisiana Sea Grant College Programs are hosting the event. More information may be obtained by contacting Ms. Perry at 875-2244 or the Mississippi-Alabama Sea Grant Consortium at 875-9341.

The 1985 Miss Southern Pageant at the University of Southern Mississippi has been set for Jan. 28 at 7:30 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center.

Coast-area young women competing for the Miss Southern title include: Davona Ayn Dougherty and Amy Amanda Firmin of Ocean Springs, Donna Lynne Gilmore of Bay St. Louis, Noemí González of Biloxi and Michelle Nichols of Moss Point.

US JOURNALISM GRANT

The Student Media Center at the University of Mississippi has received a grant from the purchase of video cameras and editing equipment for $15,000 for the production of pharmacy training videotapes.

Making the presentation to University Chancellor Gerald Turner was Art Nelson, vice-president of marketing for the TBL, a subsidiary of the Fox-Meyer Corporation. The Dallas-based company is the nation's third largest pharmaceutical wholesaler, and the TBL computer division is the world's largest pharmacy computer company.

The new equipment will eliminate a major bottleneck in our students' editing of television news stories," said Dr. Will Norton, journalism chairman. "It will enable us to greatly improve the quality of instruction and hands-on experience for our students."

HEIR TO THE THRONE—Luc Owen is Arthur, Duke of Britaine, possible heir to the English throne, with Mary Morris as Queen Elinor in the new production of "The Life and Death of King John," airing on The Shakespeare Plays at 9 p.m. Friday, Jan. 11 over METV Ch. 19, Biloxi. The late Leonard Rossiter portrays the amoral and beleaguered King John, with Claire Bloom as Queen Constance. One of Shakespeare's lesser-known, but dangerously exciting works, "King John" is the last history play to be presented on the long running series.

by Curt Scarborough, Ph.D.
Used by permission; all rights reserved by DATE, St. Louis, Mo.

QUESTION - Which one of these common foods does not contain caffeine?
a) Cola drinks
b) Chocolate
c) Peanut butter
d) Tea

ANSWER - Caffeine is a stimulant contained in tea, coffee, chocolate, and cola drinks. The average chocolate bar has about 1/5 the caffeine of one cup of coffee. A cup of tea or a can of cola contains about 1/2 the caffeine of a cup of coffee. Peanut butter doesn't contain caffeine.

Correct answer - c.

QUESTION - It is possible for persons to become psychologically dependent on:
a) Any stimulant
b) Any depressant
c) Any drug substance
d) Any hallucinogen

ANSWER - Psychological dependence (habituation) is the result of repeated consumption of a drug which produces a desire (not a compulsion) to continue taking drugs for a sense of improved well-being.

Physical dependence (addiction) occurs when a person cannot function normally without the repeated use of a drug. If the drug is withdrawn, the person has severe physical and psychic disturbance.

Persons can become psychologically dependent to any drug substance.

Correct answer - c.

NEWS

Comparison of five-year survival rates for colorectal cancer with and without early detection. An additional 40,000 lives can be saved annually with the aid of early detection techniques.

In 1984, 130,000 Americans will be diagnosed as having colorectal cancer, and 60,000 will die from it. However, with the use of early detection techniques, we can increase the survival rate for patients with colorectal cancer from the current 44% to 75%. This means "100,000 lives can be saved this year alone," according to Dr. Sidney J. Winawer, Chief of Gastroenterology at Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center.

People must be aware that the incidence of colorectal cancer increases significantly after age 40-50 million Americans are in that age group, and that early stages of the disease are often present without obvious symptoms. Therefore, screening techniques are valuable in searching for disease in asymptomatic persons.

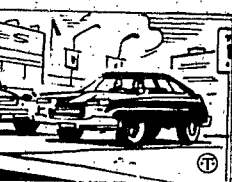

The three main screening tests are the digital rectal examination, the stool blood test and sigmoidoscopy. The stool blood test detects small amounts of hidden, occult blood in the stool, often an early sign of colorectal cancer and other gastrointestinal disorders. Until recently, the patient prepared the test at home and submitted it to the physician or laboratory for interpretation of results. Now, the Hemocult stool blood test, a test used by physicians for over a decade, can be purchased in drug stores and performed at home. If the test indicates blood in the stool, a person should see a doctor for further evaluation.

Colorectal cancer is currently the second highest cancer killer in the U.S., second only to lung cancer.

These findings were brought to light at a recent symposium for medical and health communicators, "Colorectal Cancer: New Insights Into a Preventable Disease," kicking off a continuing multimedia campaign to inform the public about colorectal cancer and its diagnosis and treatment.

FACTS & FIGURES

Recent automotive safety tests indicated that direct head-on crashes accounted for less than five percent of motor vehicle accidents.

Over half of all car accidents are what is known as offset frontal collision, that is, the impact is on the left or right front fender.

Keeping this in mind, the safety experts at Mercedes-Benz determined that one way to increase protection for the people in their cars is to interconnect both sides of the car's frontal structure so that it can absorb and manage crash forces better.

COOKING CORNER

You can do a "hole" lot more with doughnuts than many people realize. Whether the pastries are home-made or store-bought, your family may be sweet on the idea of shaking plain doughnuts, one at a time in a bag with a little confectioners sugar. You can glaze doughnuts by dipping them into a blend of one-third cup boiling water and a cup of confectioners sugar. To make the glaze something to sprinkle the doughnuts with, chop nuts, colored sugar or confectioners.

"They oughta fix the TV in this place: After a couple of drinks, it always goes fuzzy."
